

I am very much opposed to BellSouth's petition asking the FCC to stop regulating broadband service. Over the past decade, I've used as ISPs a Baby Bell company and two local, independent ISPs. The independent ISPs provided vastly superior service and support. It would be both wrong on principle and hostile to the interests of consumers to let large phone companies monopolize broadband service.